

NOAA CORPS BULLETIN

Official Information for NOAA Commissioned Officers

Volume 36, Number 1

First Quarter, 2006

FROM THE DESK OF THE DIRECTOR

Spring traditionally is a time for renewal and reflection. Professionally, it is an appropriate time to take stock of who we are, what we represent, and what value we offer to the organization. As NOAA Corps officers, we are bound by oath to bring our core values—honor, respect, and commitment to the table and integrate them into everything we do personally and professionally.

As uniformed officers, we are among the most visible elements of NOAA, and are held to the highest standards. Living our core values serves us and NOAA well, and lays the foundation to help us meet the agency's expectations for organizational excellence and OMAO's vision to be best in class for sea and air operations and data acquisition for NOAA and the Nation.

VADM Lautenbacher sent out an all-hands message in March that identified the “One NOAA” approach to achieving organizational excellence and laid out a set of principles recently agreed upon by the NOAA leadership: 1) we operate as a customer-driven organization; 2) we foster partnerships to achieve solutions to complex problems; 3) we promote organizational excellence at all levels of NOAA; and 4) we strive for leadership excellence and accountability. He urged a NOAA-wide commitment to applying these principles, particularly to observations, service delivery, stewardship strategy, hazard-resilient communities, and internal business processes.

NOAA Corps officers serve across all parts of NOAA, wear the uniform of NOAA, and are the original role models of a “One NOAA” mindset and method of doing business. Hurricane Katrina provided an excellent example of officers working across organizational lines during a crisis, but our leadership roles in program offices and aboard NOAA’s platforms afford us opportunities every day to achieve organizational excellence. Living our core values assures we give it our very best.

Striving to fulfill OMAO’s vision to be best in class aligns us with NOAA’s goal of organizational excellence. Not all of you currently work within OMAO, but your operational expertise and leadership ability gained through your ship and aircraft experiences are invaluable to all parts of the agency.

Many of you have heard my presentation on vision and mission, or will do so soon. One of the points I make is that we haven’t always been in a position to provide the best service available, because for years we were under intense public scrutiny and had to lay low. Our organization’s existence was threatened, and we couldn’t adequately take care of our customers or our own people.

All of that has changed. Today we are supported by our Administrator and many influential members of Congress. They see the value of our contributions and the unique role we play in NOAA. As a former Navy officer, Vice Admiral Lautenbacher understands the value of the Corps and of having a capable, in-house fleet. We are in a good position today and in the future, and our plan is to strengthen that position on all fronts.

I'd like to quote from a book called "Good to Great" by Jim Collins, OMAO's contributions are very unique, the absence of what would be difficult if not impossible to fill. "The organization makes such a unique contribution to the communities it touches and does its work with such unadulterated excellence that if it were to disappear, it would leave a hole that could not be easily filled by any other institution on the planet."

Who are we? Officers who live by honor, respect, and commitment--personally and professionally. What do we represent? One NOAA, striving for organizational excellence. What value do we offer the organization? A commitment to provide sea and air operations and data acquisition that is best in class. These are my expectations and my challenge to you.

UNIFORM OF THE DAY

All NOAA Corps officers shall wear the uniform properly and adhere to appearance standards in the NOAA Corps Uniform Regulations.

The summer uniform of the day for the Washington, D.C.; Seattle, WA; Norfolk, VA; Boulder, CO; and Tampa, FL areas is described below:

The prescribed uniform is worn for special occasions and meetings when participants are wearing civilian business suits. Working Khaki is authorized only in the appropriate shipboard or field environment, and when traveling directly to and from work. Foul weather gear, coveralls, and command ball caps may be worn with the working khaki uniform as weather circumstances dictate.
